Bazarbek A-D.B.: Extremism and terrorism today are one of the most dangerous phenomena of social life, destabilizing the normal functioning of our society and threatening the life of citizens. It is important to distinguish the concept of "patriotism" from ideas that are imposed by persons with pronounced aggression. It is necessary to observe tolerant behavior and be tolerant of people of other faiths, nationalities and political views.

Akhmetzhanova K.B.: People want to live in peace and tranquility. Stability and confidence in the future are necessary for the development of the state. Terrorism and extremism are opposed by the world community. Kazakhstan is no exception.

In July 1999, the Law "On Combating Terrorism" was adopted. On February 18, 2005, the Law "On Countering Extremism" was adopted in Kazakhstan. In order to counter religious extremism and terrorism, the state programs "On countering religious extremism and terrorism in the Republic of Kazakhstan for 2013-2017 and 2018-2022" were approved.

In 2002, the CICA summit adopted the Almaty Act, which outlines the most important principles of countering terrorism. Kazakhstan's cooperation within the SCO, CSTO, OSCE and UN organizations is also effective.
